We share your passion for progress and your commitment to championing the companies and visionaries shaping the future. Learn how we build portfolios whose true value unfolds over time and aligns with your vision for a better tomorrow.

Your capital is at risk.

In a world that moves at an unrelenting pace, where the horizons of innovation stretch beyond what the eye can see, there are individuals driven by curiosity.

Investors searching further, not for what is, but for what could be. Gazing not at what companies lie on the surface, but searching for the hidden gems, the future winners yet to be realised, the winners in their fields.

Those companies with foundations built to last. Pioneers that transform markets and consumer behaviours, in ways their competitors can't. Visionaries that are committed to solutions for our biggest future problems.

Only the patient can see past the temporary and distracting. Spending time engaging deeply with founders and academics who see possibilities, with the shared knowledge that true value takes time to unfold.

Remaining steadfast demands the brave. A focus on the fundamentals of companies and the changing world in which they exist. Delivering portfolios that are driven by client values and managed by independent ownership. An aligned partnership which escapes the seduction of short-term gains.

At Baillie Gifford we seek out companies that will not only succeed but do so by addressing the needs of society and driving change towards the next horizon.

Because we are not just spectators – we are partners in the narrative of progress.
