

Relationships

We say Actual Investors build relationships. Not just portfolios. But why does it matter?

Well, Baillie Gifford doesn't simply invest in some of the world's greatest growth companies. We strive to build early, long-term relationships with the founders, to help them better achieve their vision. Because we believe long-term relationships build superior long-term returns for our clients.

Baillie Gifford. Actual Investors.